

Early concept ideas

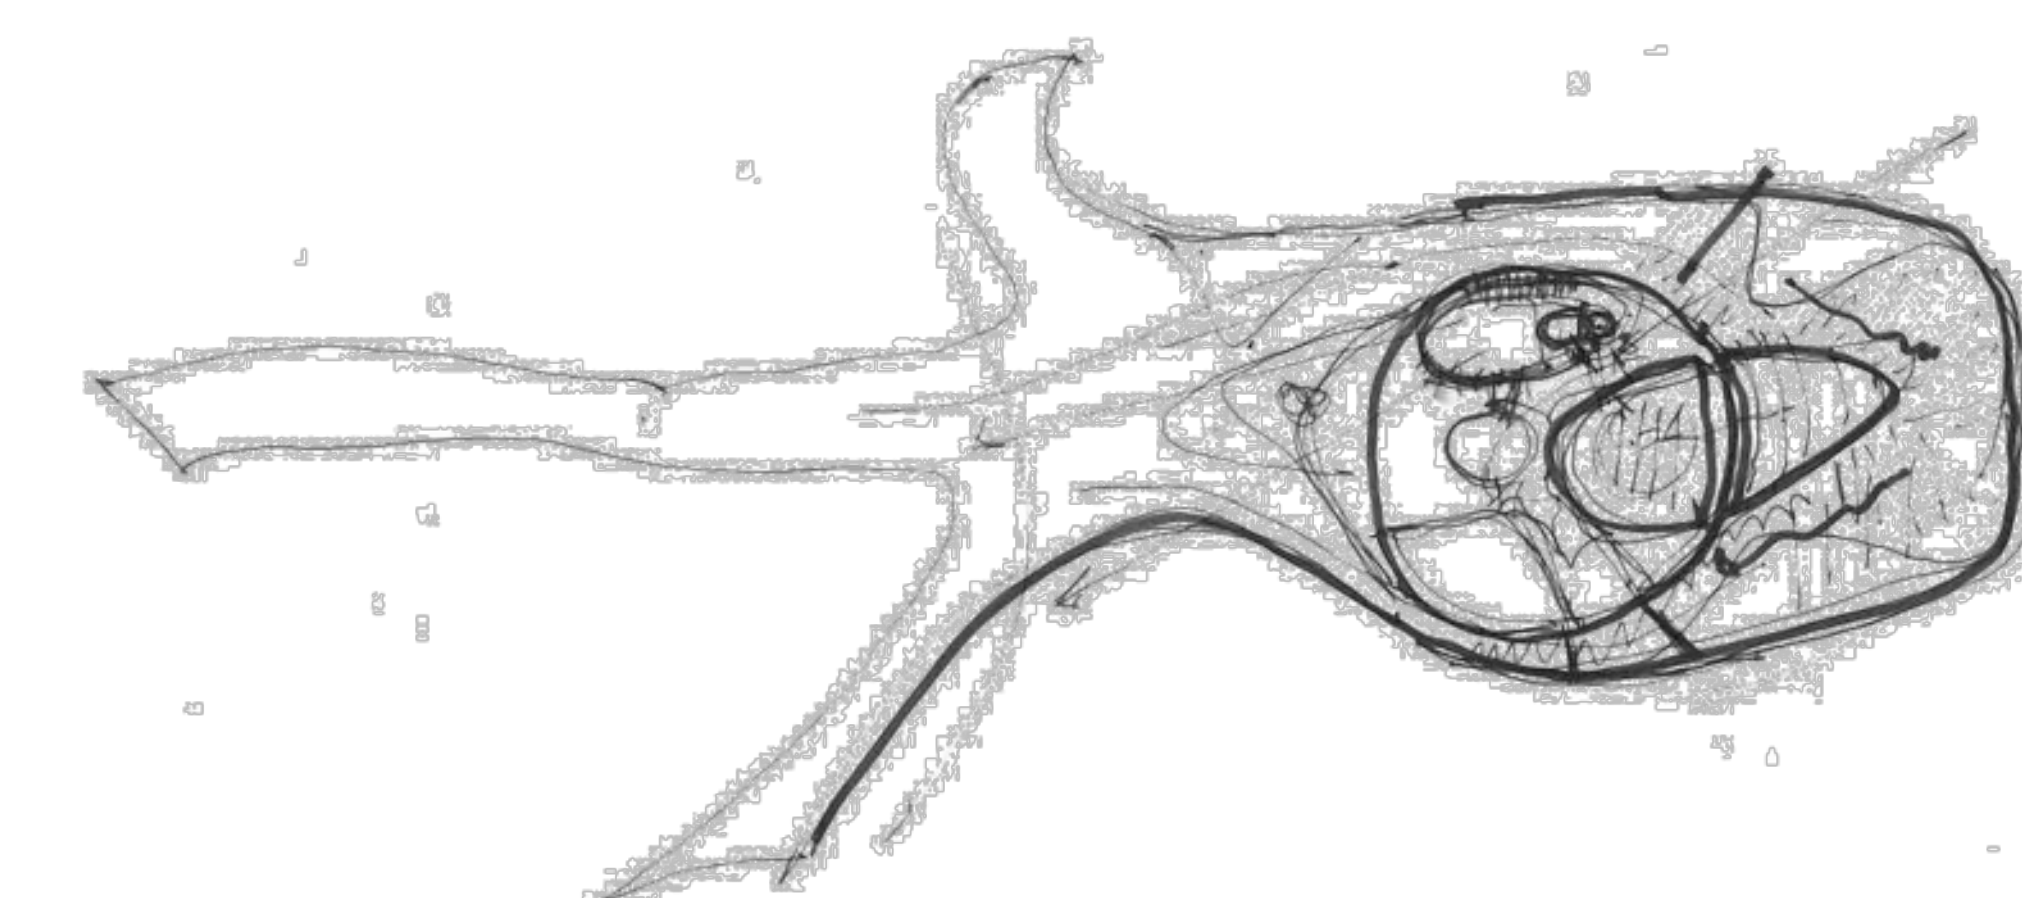

Early concept sketches investigating the use of light, by creating a southerly sloping roof to provide natural light inside of the gas holder.

Concept sketches investigating the ideas surrounding the external skin, to puncture, unravel and how these concepts influenced the end design.

Concept sketches investigating at the early stages how the gas holder can be reconnected to the public realm through the use of nature and new connections through out the site.

Concept sketches investigating building movement and approach focusing on connections to the public realm and encouraging movement

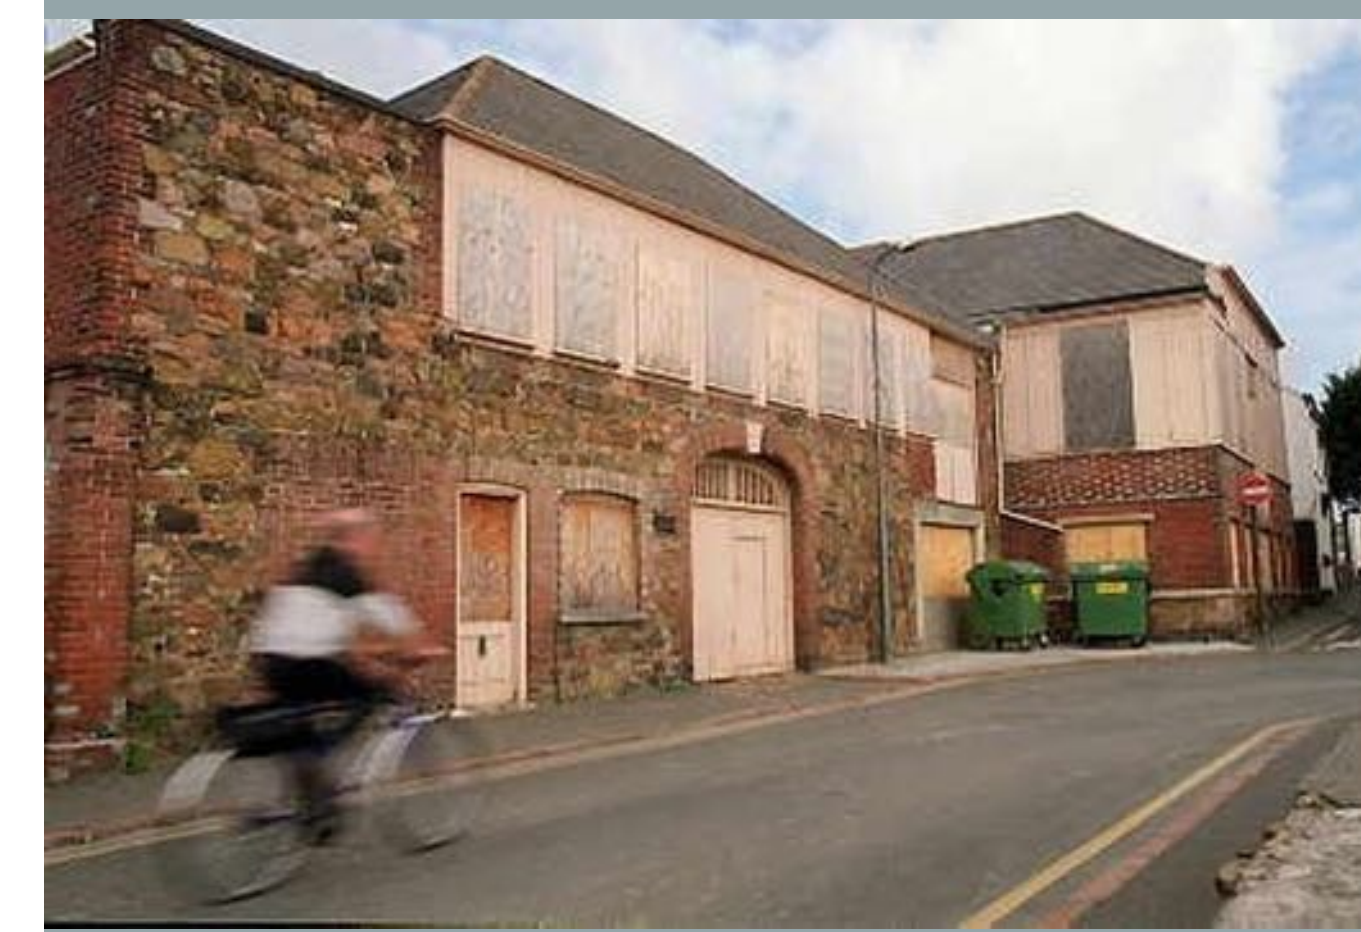

Photos of surrounding buildings of interest

The Workshop, Tunnell Street

Thomas Edge Apartments, Tunnell Street

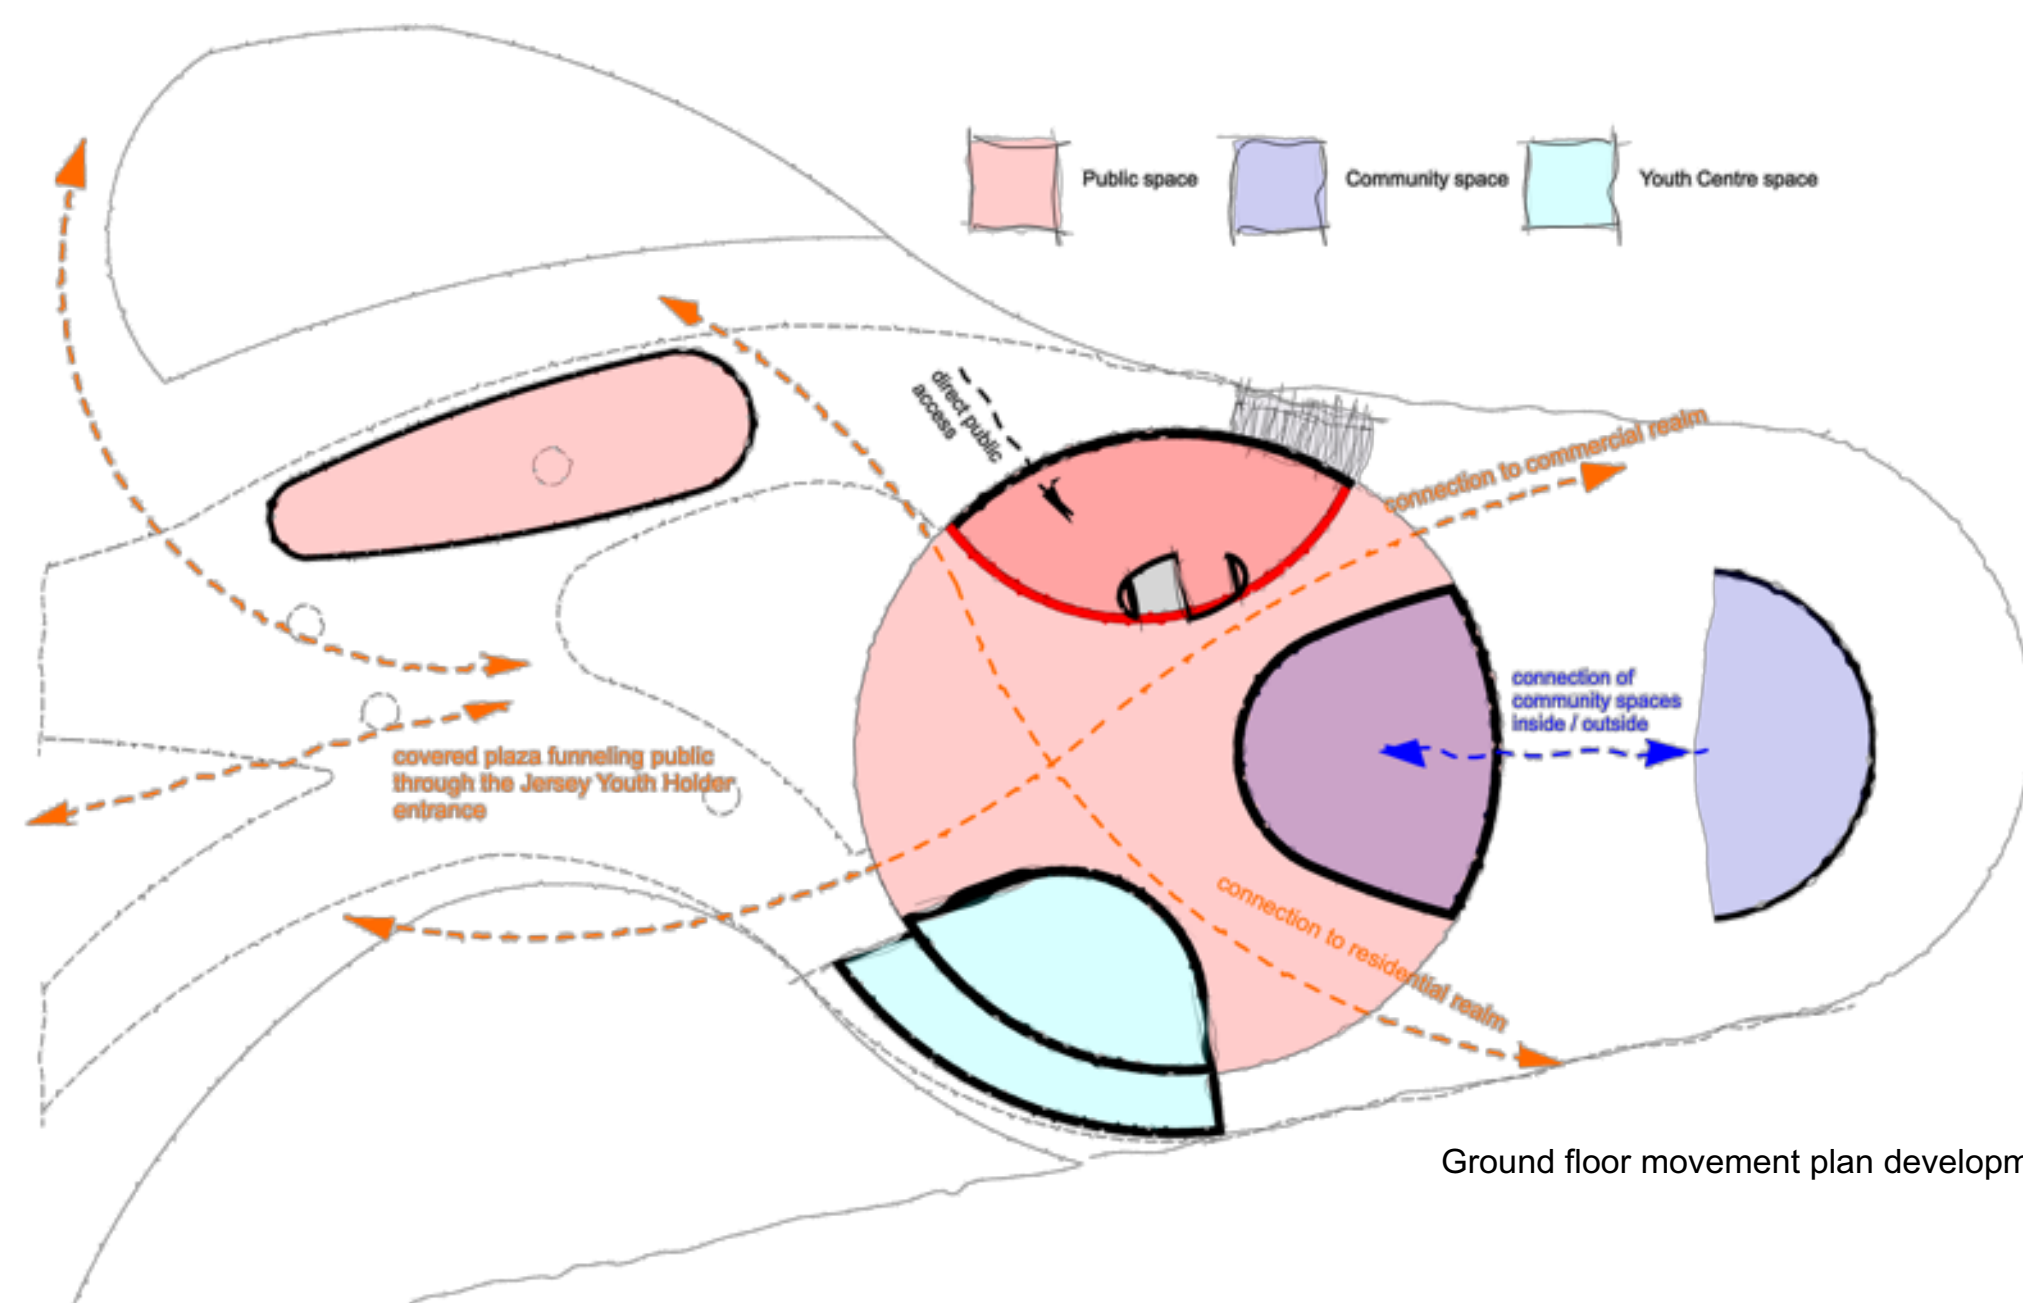

Le Seilleur Workshop

63 Bath House, Bath Street

This concept image represents the extension of Millennium Park reaching up like an arm towards the gas holder and taking hold of it wrapping its fingers around the cylinder engulfing the cylinder pulling it back into the park.

Ground floor movement plan development