

"CCTV was 'a Chinese moon gate, a framed hole, or a heavy shape made in bronze and jade 1,000 years ago in China As a symbol of exchange.'" Deyan Sudjic, Architect Who Swept the Floor
Beijing motorcycle factory leveled as a symbol for CCTV.

"The neatness of architecture is its seduction; it defines, excludes, limits, separates from the rest but it also CONSUMES." - Rem Koolhaas, What Ever Happened to Urbanism
Contemporary International Practical Exhibition of Architecture consumes Pearl Spring near Nanjing, China

