FACILITATING CONNECTIONS

Site Rendering

Parametric Configurations

The Bridge Station at Lingotto was based on two main premises: the necessity to have a fast connection between the two sides of the railroad, allowing specifically residents to pass rapidly from east to west, and the necessity to have a path for slower traffic flow, for individuals and passengers using the station and its commercial facilities. This duality is translated into two distinct and separate volumes utilizing parametric design techniques.

FALL Generative Components Workshop - Torino, Italy Exhibited at the Politechnico di Torino '08 Professors David Riebe & Lorena Alessio Project with Giulia Nardi & Giuseppe Giordano

Aerial View Rendering

