

I designed this community arts center that would not only have the community interact within the building, but also use the space around the building. Using points of view and circulation as my focus of concepts, I was able to design a very engaging space.

COMMUNITY ARTS CENTER

Boston, Massachusetts